BOARD
UPDATE

2+2 = 4.

Nearly every person would agree with this simple equation.

When choosing a school for our three boys, Kari and I wanted to find a school that not only excelled at teaching this kind of education basic but also the “why” behind this truth. We wanted to be a part of a school community that has a holistic view of the truth and power of the Gospel. Knowing facts to just pass a test and get good grades falls far short of the purpose of education. The best education instills awe for our amazing Creator and Savior. Everything coheres in Christ and an educational environment that is lacking in the worship of the one, true God is never going to properly prepare our three sons for the calling the Lord has for them.

Over the past century, the Lord has used SCS to shape hearts and minds to worship Jesus through disciplines of Scholarship, Discipleship and Citizenship. I’d like to share a few thoughts on how these characteristics are alive in the daily life of our SCS community today.

Worship in Scholarship.

Dear Lord, we praise You for who You are, for how You have revealed yourself to us and for being knowable. There is no way to study science, math, biology or read history properly without being overwhelmed by a sense of awe at the God who created and sustains all these things. This response of awe is an essential part of the classroom life as our students learn about the vastness of created universe, God’s works throughout the many generations before us and the power that changes hearts.

Worship in Discipleship.

Dear Lord, we exalt you and we desire to follow you. In government run schools there is no room to answer critical discipleship questions such as: Where did we come from? Why are we here? Where are we going? I am so grateful that at SCS we not only know and teach the biblical answers to these questions, we have space to celebrate the truth of this knowledge and dive into the richness of the amazing and redemptive work of our Lord and Savior. Our classrooms and halls are filled with moments where this transformative truth comes to life.

Worship in Citizenship.

Dear Lord, we praise you for empowering us to live out your teachings each day in our school, our community and our world. In our school, our kids are not only learning facts about history, math, language, art, music and science but also the integration of these truths into how we live our lives as citizens of God’s kingdom.

I am so grateful for how SCS uses the worship of Christ at the center of the challenge to educate our kids. We celebrate the truth that 2+2 = 4 because of Jesus. As a response to this beautiful truth, I am excited to be a part of the SCS community and to see us continue to worship Christ in our Scholarship, Discipleship and Citizenship for the next hundred years and more!

In Christ,

Mission

In partnership with the Christian community, Sheboygan Christian School uses a biblical perspective to integrate academic excellence with Christ-centered learning, preparing students’ hearts and minds for service in God’s world.

Vision

Sheboygan Christian School will impact the world, both near and far, for Jesus Christ.

Core Values

- Pursues Academic Excellence
- Develops the Christian Mind
- Cultivates Spiritual Growth
- Encourages Biblical Self-Image
- Builds Strong Social Bonds
- Involves the Supporting Community
- Serves the Greater Community

From the Desk of Ann Steenwyk

Dear SCS Community,

As we enter the time to apply and enroll for the 19-20 school year, please consider how you can help to spread the word about Christian education. Now more than ever, students can have access to Christian education through the Wisconsin Parental Choice Program and through other financial assistance opportunities. Check out our website: www.sheboyganchristian.com for more information about these options.

Consider your impact on the spiritual health of children you might be connected with in church, your social community, or through employment. Share your love for SCS and all it has to offer our future generations. Share what makes it stand out in terms of scholarship, discipleship, and citizenship. (There are examples in this Flyer!) Share about what makes it different from other schools. Share about the importance of making an eternal investment. Most importantly, share specific stories you have about how God’s work at SCS has had an impact on you and your family.

If you would like promotional materials to share with others, please let us know or stop by one of our offices. We would be happy to equip you with materials to pass on. Last year, we increased enrollment by 3 percent, adding 45 new students and 36 new families to the school community. We would like to match or exceed it this coming year. Thanks to all of you, we have had over 45 inquiries and 7 accepted students (6 new families) already for the 2019-2020 school year!

“GOD’S VOICE THUNDERS IN MARVELOUS WAYS; HE DOES GREAT THINGS BEYOND OUR UNDERSTANDING.” JOB 37:5

Each year I am astonished and humbled by what God does in our world. We cannot deny His presence and work in each detail of our lives. When I consider His great work in the lives of our 247 students and 39 staff members, I get overwhelmed. His voice is thundering in marvelous ways! Please join me in praising and thanking God for all of the great things He does (even beyond our understanding).

Thanking God for His Work,
Ann Steenwyk – Director of Academics and Instruction

NEW FACES AT SCS

David Cornette – Doctrine & Ethics Instructor

Bio: I am a follower of Christ, husband to my precious wife, Shannon, and father of seven incredible gifts: Alyssa, Calvin, Anna, Iain, Lauryn, Graeme, and Liam. Is that seven? Oh, yes. I am an ordained pastor in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church. I have been pastor of Calvary OPC in Cedar Grove since 2015. I am from South Jersey, where I grew up as a “son of a Baptist preacher” (according to Tim Hawkins, that is one of the “Christian curses”). I received my undergraduate degree from Moody Bible Institute, where I met Shannon. I lived in New Jersey while working through seminary. My first pastoral charge was in New Jersey, where I served for 16 years before moving back to Shannon’s motherland, Wisconsin.

Why did you join the SCS team? I love SCS’s kingdom mission. I embrace the mission, vision, and core values, so although I stay pretty busy as a pastor, when the opportunity arose, it was difficult to pass it up. I love people of all ages, so it has been a great experience spending time with and teaching students, as well as mingling with the staff. What an opportunity—to be engaged in discipleship at a key point in students’ lives, the teen years!

Betsy Warmus – Marriage & Family Instructor

Bio: I graduated from SCS in 2004 and earned my Bachelor’s in Social Welfare from UW-Milwaukee in 2008. I am married to John and we have three daughters, Natalie (4K), Grace (2.5 yrs) and Sophie (10 mos.). My professional experience includes coordinating programs for a Family Resource Center, facilitating community education for UW-Extension, and working for the Wisconsin Early Childhood Association with in-home daycare providers. John and I are active within Hope Reformed Church, co-directing a monthly community meal, teaching Sunday School, and participating in other activities. I enjoy spending time with family and friends, traveling, and clearance shopping (like any good Dutch girl!).

Why did you join the SCS team? Through some changing circumstances, the Marriage and Family course was in need of a facilitator, and for reasons beyond my understanding, Mrs. Steenwyk reached out to see if I would have interest in teaching. This class fits with my background and interests, but is a completely new endeavor for me. I am thrilled to be doing it and hope to be making it a meaningful experience for my group of seniors. That is the part of this class I am most excited about: to be discussing and learning about life-applicable topics and plans with students who are the closest to leaving high school and experiencing even more of what life will offer them.

Hannah Garside – Band & Choir Instructor

Bio: I am a graduate of Cedar Grove High School, and graduated in December from Hope College with a Bachelor of Music in Instrumental Music Education (K-12) and Saxophone Performance. A few other things about myself are that I just got married, and I love to read, watch movies, cook and play board games. I am teaching middle school choir this semester, and high school band and choir next school year. Receiving the band and choir instructor role at SCS was definitely a God thing. Before the job was posted publicly, it showed up in my now mother-in-law’s church bulletin in June, and while I thought my chances were slim, I went for it, sent the email, got a phone interview a day later and here we are!

Why did you join the SCS team? I was excited about the opportunity to be able to teach music through a biblical worldview. Music and my faith have always been two important concepts in my life and working at Sheboygan Christian allows me to be able to intertwine the two all while engaging and growing alongside students. This year being my very first year teaching, I am first and foremost simply excited to be able to start my teaching career in such an encouraging environment. I am also very excited about getting ready for middle school Music Festival at the beginning of May!

what that partnership is all about. All too often people focus on partnering in support of the school. However, this story shows what that partnership can and does provide

CAPITAL CAMPAIGN & STEERING COMMITTEE UPDATE

We have all heard the saying “a picture is worth a thousand words,” and for the most part this rings true. The picture seen above does hold up to that, however the story around this image speaks a much louder message.

The story goes like this: it was the Tuesday after January’s big snowstorm and a woman who lives across the street from our elementary campus was attempting to back her car out of her driveway. The car became stuck in the snow. This neighbor was concerned about leaving her car in its current position yet was unsure how to get it moved. She went inside her home and called a friend to discuss. Unbeknownst to her, that friend happened to be a parent of students at SCS. This parent jumped into action and called the school. Amy Kaat picked up and without hesitation, went to Mr. VanDrunen’s room, at which point he called a group of young students into service. The next part of this story was best detailed on the neighbor’s own Facebook page when she wrote, “I heard a holler” and before she knew it the group of students had pushed her car out of the snow. Problem solved!

SCS’s mission statement begins with, “In partnership with the Christian community.” To me, this story shows directly to the community. As our school year continues to march along, I encourage you to seek out ways to join us in this partnership. Focusing inward to strengthen our Christian community and outward to build purposeful partnerships will benefit this school beyond measure.

To that end, our community is in the midst of a major project right now, our Capital Campaign. The Capital Campaign has grown to over $2.2 million of our $6 million goal. Additionally, our bank debit is now less than $200,000, setting us way ahead of our original timeframe to eliminate debt in 13 years. As spring hits, we will look to keep the momentum going. If you are not on our email update list, please let us know and we would be happy to add you.

I’m proud to say that the story above was one of many examples I could choose from to highlight a positive impact our school has made within our community. We just don’t get pictures of all of them!

MEET THE VAN DER JAGT FAMILY – FEATURING NANCY DE JONG

How did your family originally get connected to SCS?

My parents, Don and Ann Van Der Jagt, were searching for alternative options to public education, and heard about SCS from their friends. Prior to this, my parents attended public schools and my mom taught at a public school, but after sending my siblings and me to SCS, we became a devoted Christian school family.

Who from your family has attended SCS or worked at SCS?

I ('89) and my sisters, Jill Rozendal ('91) and Stacy Kerwin ('93) graduated from SCS. My daughter, Anneke, my niece, Jamie, and nephew, AJ Kerwin currently attend SCS.

While my mom, Ann, did not have the opportunity to attend, she worked at SCS from 1980-2002. She taught 5th-6th grade math for two years, 6th grade language arts and grammar for one year, and Kindergarten for 19 years. My father, Don, and my sister Stacy served as board members, my husband Steve, served on the Steering Committee, and I even mini-taught during college at SCS for two weeks.

What are some of your family's favorite memories?

My mom's favorite thing about teaching at SCS was that God was in all of the curriculum. She greatly enjoyed the community, connecting with the students and the parents. Our family always remembers our dad, Don, cheering a lot at games and at times, yelling at the refs. Our family continues to enjoy spending time together at our children's sporting events.

When I was younger, I specifically remember the excitement we had for the new letter person to come out of Miss Streelman's closet, Miss Hull's reading of the Trumpet of the Swan, "The Music Machine" musical, the CSI basketball tournament, and Mr. Pool's demonstration of how atoms moved (as he flew and bounced around the science room).

Our teachers and coaches genuinely cared for us and did whatever they could to help us grow in our education and more importantly in our faith. I remember three specific songs in our grade school chapels: "Trust and Obey", "Pass It On", and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". The words of these hymns and God's words were etched into my heart at an early age and have helped me through many experiences in life.

Why did you and your husband send your children to SCS?

Both Steve and I grew up in the Christian school system and are committed to Christian education. Our number one responsibility as parents is to help our children grow in their love of the Lord and the understanding of Jesus Christ as their Savior. We also have enjoyed the earlier connection between the middle school students of OCS and SCS through middle school fun nights and Junior Eagles teams, which helps our children transition from middle school at OCS to high school at SCS.

ALUMNUS SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Rachael Filwett (Jensema) '09 – Postdoctoral Research Scholar at University of Iowa

Tell us about your current field of study, where you are, and what you are doing. I work at the University of Iowa as a Postdoctoral Research Scholar. I'm a Space Physicist which means I study various plasmas and particles, particularly how they interact with magnetic fields and planets in our solar system. I finished my PhD in May 2018 in a joint fellowship program with the University of Texas at San Antonio and the Southwest Research Institute. For my dissertation work, I studied the acceleration and transport of heavy ions near Earth in fast solar wind structures. Then, in June 2018, my husband Paul, and I, along with our two dogs, moved to the Iowa City area so I could take a position at the University of Iowa as a post-doc. I am part of a research group that studies Earth's radiation belts. I personally am studying solar energetic particles originating in solar flares and how they behave if they penetrate into the radiation belts. I've also spent some time developing and building instrumentation for miniaturized satellites called "CubeSats."

Why is what you are doing important? Space Physics deals with something called "Space Weather". Just like you get the forecast for your local weather, there are government agencies such as NASA and NOAA that provide space weather forecasts. These forecasts are used by a wide variety of organizations to protect their space assets. The increased radiation associated with solar and geomagnetic storms can be damaging to satellites, pose a health risk for astronauts, destroy transformers and power lines, and put the health of airline crews on polar routes at risk. Smaller geomagnetic storms have the ability to interfere with things we rely on everyday such as GPS, which is annoying for an application like Google Maps, but could be disastrous in a military context.

How did Sheboygan Christian School prepare you for your calling and career? What impact did Christian education have on you? I can trace some of the skills I need to succeed back to my education at SCS. The teachers I had were so passionate about their subject areas. Probably the best example of this was in middle school, Mr. VanDrunen made science fun! He would strut around the classroom talking about noble gases; he got everyone involved in experiments so that science was real and happening right before our eyes. I had a chronic illness in high school and missed a lot of classroom time, but each teacher knew me personally and we worked to figure out ways to help me learn the material even if I couldn't always be present. That sort of individual attention was invaluable to my success.

I think Sheboygan Christian helped develop my calling by allowing me to pursue interests that were unique to me. I didn't want to take art classes in high school; instead I took a woodworking class and a computer-aided design (CAD) class. When I talked to Mrs. Red (math teacher) about wanting to do physics in college, she helped set up an individual study for me so I could take pre-calc in a semester, and then calculus the next semester.

There are so many cool things going on in STEM today... the challenge is to empower [students] with the confidence to succeed. This is particularly true for young women and minorities who are underrepresented in STEM due to issues of discrimination. Just like most things in life, being a good scientist (or engineer etc) happens because of hard work and determination. We can support students by creating a real-life connection between the basics they are learning and how it translates into practical applications.

In high school, one of the things we talked about in Bible class was the idea of general revelation. General revelation is the idea that creation itself is witness to God's power and love. Romans 1:20 says, "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that people are without excuse." I think as a Christian and a scientist this has a lot of meaning in my life. Not only do I praise God that the sun and stars are beautiful but I praise God when I understand how they work because to me that is even more magnificent. Science serves as a witness to God's handiwork.

YEARBOOK

The Yearbook team's goal is to capture all the best moments of 2018-2019 with captivating photos and clever captions, while tying in our school theme: "Bold." Following this theme, we are trying to incorporate new designs and shapes that push our comfort levels. This year we have over thirty members made up of various groups. Our yearbook team has won the Josten's Yearbook of Excellence three years in a row now, and this past year one of our students won a $2,500

"DO NOT CONFORM TO THE PATTERN OF THIS WORLD, BUT BE TRANSFORMED BY THE RENEWING OF YOUR MIND. THEN YOU WILL BE ABLE TO TEST AND APPROVE WHAT GOD'S WILL IS—HIS GOOD, PLEASING AND PERFECT WILL." - ROMANS 12:2

yearbook scholarship. We are building a legacy, and we are confident that this year will be the best year yet!

Tricia Meyer – Yearbook & Forensics Advisor, English & Social Studies Teacher; Elie Steenwyk (11th grade) – Yearbook Editor

Youth Apprenticeship

I am currently employed as a technical support worker at Acuity Insurance through the Youth Apprenticeship program. My job involves setting up computers and computer-related devices for other employees, as well as other areas of tech support. Even though I am in the middle of my junior year in high school (which many claim is the busiest), I am still able to work every weekday from 7:00 to 9:00 a.m. before going to school. This is possible because both Acuity and Sheboygan Christian School are quite flexible when it comes to scheduling.

In my opinion, the best thing about the program as a whole is its ability to give high school students a source of income, experience in a more "professional" field of work, and college credit. In particular, job experience is impressive on a college application, and it can allow students to explore potential careers. Participating in the Youth Apprenticeship program during high school can help eliminate some uncertainty surrounding career interests.

Ben Persick (11th grade)

ACADEMIC & CAREER PLANNING (ACP)

One exciting update at SCS this year is that ACP (Academic and Career Planning) has been fully implemented in grades 6-12! ACP's overall vision is for every student to graduate from high school college and career ready.

For grades 6-8, students took assessments to understand their learning styles and link their interests/skills to career options. Students will learn about helpful school skills such as time management and problem solving. We also talk about postsecondary options, careers and high school!

For grades 9-12, each grade level has a checklist that students are required to complete. The following are a few highlights: Freshmen learned their top 5 strengths from the StrengthsQuest Test. Sophomores will be traveling to Lakeshore Technical College to attend the Explore Your Future Event and learn more about their personality styles and careers. Juniors attended the Wisconsin Education Fair at Lakeland University. They also took the PSAT and ACT. Juniors will also participate in a Job Shadow Day. Seniors will choose between a college track and a workforce/military track. The college track will focus on college applications and scholarships, and the workforce/military track focuses on job skills like resume making, interviewing and soft skills.

As you can see, we are working hard at SCS to prepare our students for life after high school! Our goal is to help our students better understand their God given gifts and talents and how they can use them after high school.

Jenna Ege – School Counselor

DISCIPLESHIP

BOLD IN LEADING

All year, our school has been watching, listening, and searching for ways to BE BOLD, our theme for the year. I recently shared with my 4th grade students that I really felt some of them were ready to lead our class in a time of devotions. We spent time talking about what student-led devotions might look, sound, and feel like. Sharing ideas is great. That's being bold. But then came the opportunity to volunteer to lead. That's being bold; a different kind of bold. To my surprise, nearly the entire class was ready to sign up!

A few weeks ago, our first student-led devotions was happening. A young lady shared scripture, a song, and an entry from Jesus Calling all focusing on the theme of "fear". In the end, she left us with an illustration of a young child surrounded by a cloud of fear, which she then erased with the explanation that fear doesn't win when we have Jesus.

The next week, a student had volunteers reading various Bible verses addressing protection and then we sang about how God protects, even when we don't see it.

It is wonderful to be able to witness the maturation of faith on a daily basis, but it's special in moments like these when boldness that only comes from the Holy Spirit drives our students to witness to others. I cannot wait to see what God has planned with this devotional experiment. The Lord is doing great things at SCS!

Joel Navis – 4th Grade Teacher

BOLD IN ACCOUNTABILITY

This semester, a group of high school students are using their lunch breaks to meet for Bible Study. With the leadership of David Cornette, Pastor of Calvary Orthodox Presbyterian Church and teacher of Old Testament Studies, they are using the resource, This Changes Everything: How the Gospel Transforms the Teen Years by Jaquelle Crowe.

"Written by a teenager for teenagers, this is an irresistible invite to embrace the gospel's transformation during a critical transition. Urging us to deepen the roots and strengthen the grip of the gospel in our whole life, Crowe directs readers to lifelong worship of God as a Christian's purpose at any age."

Pastor Cornette is helping students recognize that even if it feels like life is filled with anxiety, fear and frustration, the key is the "good news" at work in us. All of us struggle to live out the gospel. We all need Jesus every day and every hour. According to Jesus, we also need one another. We need to be honest. We need to be "broken together."

We need to struggle and grow together. Life is hard. The Christian community exists because we should not and cannot walk the path alone. At SCS, students are growing in their spiritual walk together and embracing opportunities to get filled with the Word, even during their breaks.

"Be on your guard; stand firm in the faith; be courageous; be strong."
- 1 Corinthians 16:13

Citizenship

7 Bridges to Recovery is a ministry based in Smyrna, GA just outside of Atlanta. The ministry was started by Daniel Wells, also known as Pastor 7.

Wells was a runaway at age 10, and due to a life of drugs, firearms and money laundering, he became one of the FBI's most wanted. He was finally captured and placed in Federal Prison, where he met Jesus Christ and was saved. When Wells was released in 2000, he made the decision to go out on the streets and help those who were going down the same road to destruction he had been on when he was younger.

Nearly 20 years later, 7 Bridges is home to 120 women and children and about 20 men. It continues to be a ministry that is focused on ending homelessness in the Atlanta area and beyond. It has been such a blessing for Kim and me to build relationships with some of the men at 7 Bridges and to bring students down year after year during Discovery Term to get them out on the streets praying over people, feeding people, and spending time living with the women and children at the ministry. It is a life changing experience we hope to offer our students for years to come!

Chris Hendrikse – Science Instructor

“I definitely learned a lot through this experience. I feel like this was one of the most amazing and life changing experiences of my life. My perspective has changed. Also, it helped me with my nervousness because after the first two people I was not really scared to pray with people. I am no longer going to take my life for granted.”

- Robert Fellerer (11th Grade)

COMMUNITY EVENTS

Talent Show

For the first time as a whole school (3k-12th grade), SCS hosted an all school talent show. 24 groups performed their talents, ranging from lip-syncing, singing, gymnastics, how to build a birdhouse, comedy, ballet, art and more!

Bowling Party

Over 160 bowlers registered for our Moon Glow Bowling event at Lakeshore Lanes. The community enjoyed the special glow lights and lanes, glow sticks and face paint, pizza and soda, and raffle prizes!

Stay tuned for more details on our upcoming swim party, Grandparents' Day and movie night.

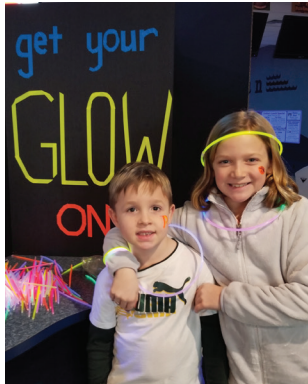

“Serving Sheboygan” Discovery Term Course

A wonderful friend of SCS with a true servant's heart, Bob Ingelse, took a group of our high school students to various non-profits within Sheboygan. The group dug deeper into God's call for Christians to serve, and the students went into the community and served each day. They cleaned at Our Home Christian Ministries and Samaritans Hand Inc., helped with landscaping at Camp Riverside, sorted food at the Sheboygan County Food Bank, and packed items away at Pine Haven Christian Communities.

TOP: B1 groups made Christmas cards for members of our community, celebrating the gift of Christ and sharing His love!

BOTTOM: Our middle school students took shifts ringing bells for the Salvation Army in December.
